CHAPTER 1

In a Nutshell

Key tax issues when moving to the US

- Key is knowing when you will become a US taxpayer 2
- You may already be a US taxpayer without realizing it 2
- Once a US taxpayer, you will be subject to US tax on your worldwide income 2
- Your worldwide income will be determined under US rules 3
- Your foreign income and assets are on the table 3
- Your bank or institution may have reported your accounts to the IRS 3
- Some foreign investments are just not suited to the US 4
- Some foreign structures are not suited to the US 4
- Beware claiming Tax Treaty benefits to reduce your US tax 5
- US tax and disclosure rules are not intuitive 5
- Tax and filings are taken seriously in the US 6

CHAPTER 2

Assumptions to Avoid

Harmful assumptions, easily made

- Logically, I don't need to disclose this / this is not taxable 10
- US tax must be broadly similar to tax back home 10
- I have sufficient experience and smarts to deal with US tax myself 10
- The IRS will contact me and tell me what I need to do 11
- I'm sure the IRS will understand that I'm new and uninformed 11
- Things will sort themselves out 11
- Why disclose this to the IRS? It's none of their business! 12
- No need to disclose my foreign stuff – the IRS will never find out! 12
- I put my assets into a foreign trust – now I don't have to report them! 13
- No need to file US tax returns if you don't live in the United States 13
- No need to file US tax returns if you file in another country 14
- I'm receiving a gift / inheritance from abroad 14
- I'm making a gift from my assets abroad 14
